An A+ Attitude

Meet OUR neighbor, Anthony

Anthony comes from a low-income, single parent household where his mother raises him along with his three siblings and seven other family members in a small, crowded apartment. With Orange County United Way's partner agency, the Cambodian Family's support of tutoring, life skills classes, field trips, and career building opportunities, Anthony is able to perform well academically with an average GPA of 3.5 throughout the year. He has also developed a positive attitude, is friendly, and is well liked by peers and staff members alike. As a result of his hard work and can do attitude, Anthony recently earned The Cambodian Family's student of the year award.

The Cambodian Family is a non-profit agency serving the refugee and immigrant community of Orange County, California. The mission of The Cambodian Family is to provide opportunities for refugee and immigrant families to develop the knowledge, skills, and desires for creating health and well-being in their lives.

We are proud of the success stories we create TOGETHER. Help us create more by continuing to LIVE and GIVE UNITED. Your contribution to Orange County United Way's Community Impact Fund helps improve lives—lives like Anthony's.
